NORWICH CITY FC LANDON CHAPMAN

DEDICATED TO – BRIAN CARRERA & BOSS ATWATER

Prologue:

Norwich City, (nuh·ridch) often referred to as the Canaries for a history of bird-breeding in the area, hence their iconic yellow and green kits. They are a professional football club located in Norwich, Norfolk, England where they have played since 1935 after being founded in 1902 before moving to the stadium Carrow Road with a capacity of 27,359 seats. The Canaries have a long-standing and fierce rivalry with East Anglian rivals Ipswich Town. They are currently competing in the EFL Championship as of the 2022-2023 season. The fan's song "On the Ball, City" is the oldest football chant in the world. Much of the support that the club enjoys is local, there are a number of expatriate fan clubs, notably in London.

Spouses Delia Smith and Michael Wynn-Jones have shared joint ownership of the club for more than 25 years after being lifelong fans and season-ticket holders of the club

Chapter 1: Chapman's at the Wheel (Season one)

The year is 2019 with Norwich City recently sacking manager Daniel Farke. Soon after the sacking, Delia Smith has come out to the public about a "Project Restart" to bring the club back to its former glory. Players were to be sold and youngsters would be brought in as they are planning to lead the club and be at the helm when they are taken back to the top. Now, they are forced with a tough decision, and they would be considered a low-level Premier League team which is often considered as a yo-yo team consistently going up and down between two levels year after year. The lead for the job is currently Landon Chapman, he had made thirty-seven caps for his nation in his playing career. During that time scored six goals for the national team England, but he is ready to face another challenge in his career; he had taken a break from football for a while now before being appointed assistant manager at Bolton Wanderers. From there he was considered to lead for the job at Norwich after they had a poor recent record. Daniel Farke was not the man for the job as it was obvious that with him at the wheel Norwich would not change their status as an inconsistently performing team. The other man in the running was the Crystal Palace manager Roy Hodgson. However, with his high wage at Palace and it is a considerable step down he turned down the offer when Landon Chapman was appointed for the job. His main objective for the season was to stay in the Premier League if he could achieve that then it was likely that he would remain at the seat for the seasons to come if he could not then it was likely that Norwich would move on, they may have been considered a yo-yo team, but they were hoping to change that and soon.

The History Of Halloween

CECILIA BINDER

Halloween has always been known as the holiday where you dress up, get free candy, and nothing more. The history of Halloween has not been known to be in textbook, but after researching online Halloween has turned out to be a very interesting subject.

As you know Halloween is a very popular holiday that is celebrated on the 31st of October every year. However, it did not start so friendly. In fact, it started out over 2000 years ago with a group of people named the Celts. The Celts lived in Europe and the British Isles they celebrated a holiday called Samhain. Samhain celebrated the changing of the seasons and was celebrated in November 1st, but many also believed that the day before Samhain or Samhain Eve spirits could return from the dead and walk on Earth again. Creepy. They created huge bonfires that let good spirits in and bad out. They made and brought food for their dead relatives in return the spirits could help make predictions. Overtime the Christians renamed the holiday All Saints Day or Hallows' Day.

Christianity adopted the holiday and tried to make it its own by celebrating the saints. However, the Samhain holiday continued. For example, Trick or Treating began in the UK when people went to houses and asked for blessings and small portions of bread. Which spread to the U.S when people migrated.

Pope Gregory III November 1 as All Saints' Day. In celebrating the saints some people went to church and not eating meat. All Souls' Day is on November 2 celebrating the souls. In all, All Saints' Day, All Hallows' Day, and All Souls' Day together make All Hallowtide. As you can see Halloween is a very interesting subject there is more and more here are links and fun facts if you would like to learn more.
